

Art Appreciation Group – May 17.

Five members of the Art Appreciation Group attended the Art in the Barn Exhibition at Doddington Hall on Monday 17th May. It was made up of 101 exhibits produced by the Lincolnshire Artists' Society, and contained paintings, sculptures, collages and wall hangings. The standard was very high, with a wide variety of subjects, but the most wonderful thing was just the fact that we were actually there being able to wander round such a display after the restrictions of lockdown..

Our visit was finished off with a cup of coffee at the cafe there, served with very efficient table service. As the weather had much improved since our arrival, we decided not to risk too much all in one go, and so sat at a table on the veranda, despite now being allowed to go into the cafe itself.
